OTTAWA, Canada, Aug. 19.—It was announced to-day by the Canadian immigration authorities that Harry K. Thaw is amenable to the provision of Chapter 93, Section 23, of the immigration statutes of the Dominion which debars all insane persons from entrance to this country. Under this law the authorities will at once take steps to deport Thaw to the United States. Whether the United States, as the country from which Thaw came, will be defined by the authorities, or the State of New York, his point of original departure, or the State of New Hampshire, the border of which is closest to the place of his apprehension, is a question that has not been decided. It is the belief here that the authorities, as a matter of courtesy to the State of New York, which demands the return of Thaw, will surrender him at some point on the border between New York State and

To do this it would not be necessary to convey Thaw a great distance from the place where he is now confined. Should Thaw be surrendered on the New York border he could be taken back to Matteawan at once. If the Governor of New York requests his deportation on the New York border it is believed the request will be granted.

Undoubtedly Thaw will try to establish that he is a tourist passing through Canada. In the case of Jack Johnson, the negro prizefighter, a fugitive from Illinois justice, this point was successfully raised, but Johnson had tickets in his pocket entitling him to passage to Europe on a ship leaving Montreal. He was allowed to stop in that city until his ship sailed.

It is a question whether Thaw, not having passage tickets but proving that he had the necessary money and announcing his desire to go to Europe, would be allowed to proceed under supervision. This point will no doubt be raised by his Canadian attorneys. W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, wired the chief of police at Sherbrooke this afternoon, instructing him to hold Harry Thaw under the immigration act. Two special officers of the department have gone to Sherbrooke.

The Justice Department reaffirmed its opinion that he will be deported.

THAW SAYS HE WILL PUT UP FIGHT AGAINST HIS RETURN TO NEW YORK. COATICOOK, Quebec, Aug. 19.-In charge of officers, Thaw left here shortly after 2 o'clock for the Sherbrooke jail.

HE SAID HE WOULD RESIST ANY ATTEMPT TO TAKE HIM TO THE NEW YORK STATE BOUNDARY LINE.

HE WIRED TO NEW YOYK FOR A LARGE SUM OF MONEY.

STORY OF THAW'S CAPTURE TOLD ON LONG PHONE TO EVENING WORLD

(From Chief of Police at Coaticook, Canada.)

The Evening World established long distance communication by telephone with Chief of Police Boudeau of Coaticook, Province of Quebec, Canada, this afternoon. The connection was made by way of Sherbrooke, Canada. Following to a report of the conversation:

EVENING WORLD-Is the man you have in custody Harry K. Thawf

CHIEF BOUDEAU-He has admitted to me and to several other persons that he is Harry Thaw. He is tall and erect, rather dark of complexion. His dark, staring eyes would attract attention anywhere. He has not worn eyeglasses since we captured him and did not have them on when he was arrested. His brownish hair is streaked with gray and he wears a blue suit, wrinkled and dusty from travel.

EVENING WORLD-Will you please ask Mr. Thaw to step to the telephone? Tell him The Evening World will print any statement be desires to make.

There was an interval of about five minutes. CHIEF BOUDEAU-Mr. Thaw says he does not desire to make any statement at this time. I believe this is by advice of his counsel, Mr. Shirtliffe, of this place, who has been engaged by Mr.

Thaw to look out for his interests. EVENING WORLD-What became of Thaw's two companions? CHIEF BOUDEAU-There was nothing on which we could hold them and they were discharged. They left here about 11 o'clock in the buggy in which Mr. Thaw drove into Conticook. EVENING WORLD—What names did they give! CHIEF BOUDEAU—They refused to give their names.

EVENING WORLD-Describe them, please. CHIEF BOUDEAU-One is a short, stout man with a smooth, square-cut face. He wears a gray suit and a soft straw hat. The other is about 5 feet 6 or 5 feet 7 inches tall. He has a smooth face and wears a dark bine suit and a straw hat. EVENING WORLD-What is Mr. Thaw's condition? CHIEF BOUDEAU-He seems to be all right but tired, and looks as though he needed sleep. His eyes probably have a more stary and fixed expression on this account.

EVENING WORLD—What is his mental condition? CHIEF BOUDEAU-He appears to be quite composed-shows no tracees of excitement, except at times he is a little impatient. He took his arrest as a matter of course apparently-told us he was Harry Thaw and said we had no right to hold him because he is not accused of any crime. We are taking good care of him. EVENING WORLD—Has he been searched? CHIEF BOUDEAU-He has not. We are not holding him as a

EVENING WORLD-Have you arranged any court proceeding! CHIEF BOUDEAU-In that I will be governed by the King's counsel. W care waiting for instructions from the authorities in
